

Marine Biol. Lab.,
Woods Hole, Mass.
August 26, 1947.

Dear Dr. Meader:

We have just returned from Madison, Wisc., where I was interviewed concerning a faculty appointment at the University. I have been offered, and have accepted, a post of Asst. Prof. in the Department of Genetics, to set up an extensive program of research in microorganisms, in collaboration with other departments such as biochemistry, bacteriology, etc. The award to me of a fellowship for 1947-48 should, then, of course, be vacated, but not before I express my appreciation for your help and consideration.

This letter anticipates a personal visit which I hope to make about September 6-8.

Thanks again, for everything.

Yours sincerely,

Joshua Lederberg.